

System Visualisation

It's all about communication

System Visualisation prepares innovative communication solutions to support bids and claims/disputes to ensure that key messages are clearly delivered to decision makers. We produce compelling and persuasive visual communications to differentiate your bid from the competition or convince the opposing party of the strength of your claim.

System Visualisation is part of System International, a 500 strong global construction consultancy. We work closely with our colleagues [commercial managers, planners, claims/disputes specialists, experts and lawyers] to offer a co-ordinated service from one business under a single point of responsibility.

Claims and Dispute Resolution

"Significant success in achieving early settlement"

We will demonstrate the strength of your case with easy to follow clear visual images that explain even the most complex issue. The facts are shown in a non-confrontational format, at any stage of the resolution process. Our visualisations are a particularly effective aid to negotiation and we have had significant success in achieving early settlement before formal proceedings have commenced.

Bid Support

"Major bid success rate of over 60%"

By using our visualisation service you will significantly increase your chance of appointment – on major bids we have a success rate of over 60%. We will work closely with your team to decide on the objective for the visual communication; this could be a summary of the overall bid, a focus on a unique selling point or an aspect featuring highly in the bid scoring matrix.
